

BreezeSolve has cooperation agreements with numerous universities as well as with several smaller public engineering schools and institutions to deliver courses on various aspects in telecommunications including smart grid communications.

Further, we provide custom made course and trainings to companies and/or their clients. Details on the available courses can be accessed through the links in the course portfolio menu.

All courses may be thought in English, Spanish, or German according to your needs.

Should you have the need for a different custom made course or training activity, just drop us a line under info@breezesolve.com, and we will let you know how it can be arranged.